

Who I Am

Ali Almusalem
Medical Filmmaker – Health Media Specialist

Independent Saudi filmmaker with over 10 years of experience in health media production.

Has worked with hospitals, medical colleges, and public health institutions across Saudi Arabia, producing impactful documentaries and educational films.

Member of the National Association of Science Writers (NASW).

Specializes in visual storytelling that highlights medical professionalism, human resilience, and public health awareness.

Notable work includes documenting Siamese twin separation surgeries performed by Dr. Abdullah Al Rabeeah — into a deeply human story of hope, resilience, and medical excellence.

Scan the QR code to save contact details.

The Vision of SAMAA

A personal initiative with a growing mission in global health storytelling.

A Journey of Purpose – From Production to Public Impact

Samaa began in 2012 as a sole proprietorship, offering media production services with a focus on healthcare content. Over the years, I worked closely with hospitals and medical institutions, which gave me a unique window into the world of medicine, not just as a subject, but as a story worth telling.

During those years, I noticed a recurring gap: medical conferences were rich with knowledge, but underutilized in terms of public communication. The voices, the breakthroughs, the human stories, they rarely reached the wider public in a meaningful, visual way.

That realization stayed with me. I waited patiently for the right moment, when I had the creative clarity and financial independence to transform this idea into reality.

In April 2025, I launched a rebranded, independent initiative under the same name, Samaa, but with a completely different identity:

A non-commercial, self-funded media project, fully dedicated to creating awareness films that humanize medicine, highlight medical specialties, and bridge the gap between professionals and the people they serve.

Three-Goal Structure:

1. Short-Term Goal – Conferences as Educational Opportunities

Capture short interviews and footage during medical events to produce concise awareness films that introduce each specialty to the public with respect and clarity.

2. Mid-Term Goal – Recovery Stories that Inspire

Collaborate with physicians to document patient recovery journeys – visual narratives of medical excellence, trust, and healing.

3. Long-Term Vision – Global Arabic-Led Health Media Platform

Build a trusted platform for professional medical storytelling in Arabic, contributing to global health literacy.

Official Credentials:

- Saudi Licensed Media Establishment No. 160385
- Unified National Number (UNN): 7050257406
- Professional Certificate No. 959393, issued by the General Authority for Media Regulation
- Member of the National Association of Science Writers (NASW)

What I Request

Proposed Participation at the Conference

Objective of My Visit:

I kindly request permission to:

- Attend the conference as an independent health media producer.
- Record short interviews with speakers and attendees.
- Capture general footage of the venue and event atmosphere.
- Use the material to produce a short non-commercial film (5–10 mins) to be published exclusively on my YouTube channel – Samaa Health Media.

What I Commit To:

- Non-commercial, educational purpose only.
- Respect all privacy, media, and security protocols.
- Share final video for review before publishing.
- Mention the conference and organizing entities respectfully and accurately.

Outcome:

A professionally produced awareness video that:

- Increases public understanding of the conference’s medical specialty and its societal impact.
- Enhances the visibility of the event to a wider audience.
- Strengthens the connection between the medical community and the public.

